Preparing you to take the ARRT exam and meet the requirements for a career as an x-ray technician.

As the healthcare industry grows and over 80 million baby boomers prepare to retire, the need for multi-skilled healthcare professionals is more immediate than ever.

LSO Training is committed to preparing healthcare professionals for the Colorado State Limited Scope Operator ARRT x-ray exam, enabling healthcare facilities to better use staff and to further develop their careers.

LSO training is an independent company offering certified classes without having to enroll in a college or university.

Your x-ray technician training will prepare you for a career as a member of a diagnostic imaging team in a wide range of medical settings.
